Where:	Sign in to download the location
RSVP:	https://duke.campusgroups.com/rsvp?id=2282927

As a partner in the On The Way program, the Center for Muslim Life (CML) provides educational support through its Ambassadorial Bus Tour, connecting students to key sites in Durham and the Triangle that deepen their understanding of the African American experience. Building on the program's visit to Charleston and the history of enslavement, the tour explores the legacy of slavery at Historic Stagville in Durham, the impact of Jim Crow segregation, and the resilience and achievement that led to the emergence of Black Wall Street. Critically, the tour weaves in the often-overlooked history of Islam as a vibrant faith tradition and way of life within Durham's African American community, while also recognizing the broader civic and cultural contributions of the wider, diverse Muslim population across the Triangle. Through this journey, students gain a deeper appreciation for both the challenges and triumphs that have shaped African American history and culture.
1. Help new students feel connected, informed, and welcomed as they begin their Duke journey.
2. Strengthen their sense of belonging by introducing them to the broader community that surrounds and supports Duke University.

Lost in Translation: Language Barriers, Assimilation, and (In)Access (BB x Diya x MSA)

When:	Monday, October 26, 2026 10:00 PM to Monday, October 26, 2026 11:00 PM
Where:	Sign in to download the location
RSVP:	https://duke.campusgroups.com/rsvp?id=2286379

Beyond Borders will collaborate with Diya and MSA to host a panel discussion surrounding the language barriers that often follow immigration, and how they shape assimilation and other facets of life – for example, challenges in finding community, entering the workspace, and accessing healthcare and legal services easily. Panelists will include Duke professors specializing in Linguistics and professionals in the (mental)healthcare and legal fields. We will examine how language can become a barrier to belonging and opportunity, and what it takes to make these systems more accessible.

RSVP:	https://duke.campusgroups.com/rsvp?id=2281846

he Fajr Breakfast Club meets every Wednesday morning just before sunrise for the first prayer of the day, Fajr. This gathering blends spiritual practice and social connection as students, faculty, staff, alumni, and community members come together in the quiet beauty of the early morning. After prayer, everyone shares a home-cooked, nutritious breakfast prepared by the Chaplain, creating a warm and welcoming environment where meaningful conversations flow naturally. The Chaplain also picks up students from across campus in a Duke van, ensuring that everyone who wants to be part of this spiritual and social community can join. Hosted in the CML office, the Fajr Breakfast Club offers a chance to start the day rooted in faith, friendship, and a sense of belonging.
Objectives:
1. Encourage students to gather for spiritual reflection and prayer.
2. Strengthen community bonds and belonging across campus.

Been Here, Still Here: Muslims and Islamophobia in the US

When:	Thursday, October 29, 2026 02:00 PM to Thursday, October 29, 2026 04:00 PM
Where:	Brodhead Center, Rm 068, Durham, NC 27708, United States
RSVP:	https://duke.campusgroups.com/rsvp?id=2282928

This interactive training invites Duke departmental staff to explore the history, impact, and current realities of Islamophobia in the United States. Participants engage with stories, data, and campus context to gain a deeper understanding of Muslim presence in America and how narratives of exclusion continue to shape perception and experience. While focused on Muslim students, the training supports broader learning for university staff by challenging assumptions, expanding cultural fluency, and strengthening inclusive practices across campus. Whether in student-facing roles or administrative work, staff leave better equipped to foster a university environment grounded in understanding, equity, and care.
Objectives
1. Provide a historical overview of Muslim presence in the U.S. and how narratives of exclusion have developed over time
2. Identify how Islamophobia shows up in campus environments, policies, and interpersonal interactions
3. Equip staff with awareness, language, and strategies to support Muslim students and contribute to a more informed and equity-minded campus culture

Join the Center for Muslim Life for a warm and lively Pizza Night. This gathering is designed to bring our first year students on East Campus together with upperclass students for an evening of connection, conversation, and community. We want our new students to meet familiar faces, build relationships, and feel supported as they continue settling into life at Duke.
This event is also meant to provide students an opportunity to engage with Duke Dining staff and learn about halal food options. This pizza night helps strengthen the sense of belonging for students and reflects the growing commitment to inclusive dining across campus.
The head chef from Marketplace will join us to answer questions about food preparation, concerns about halal processes, and anything students are curious about regarding dining on East Campus. It is a great opportunity to learn more, advocate for your needs, and build trust with dining leadership.
Objectives:1. To welcome new students and build community and belonging on East Campus by facilitating direct connections with upperclassmen and CML leadership.
2. To celebrate and affirm the institutional progress made in inclusive dining (halal pepperoni) and to build trust between Muslim students and Duke Dining through direct dialogue with the head chef.

This gathering blends spiritual practice and social connection as students, faculty, staff, alumni, and community members come together in the quiet beauty of the early morning. After prayer, everyone shares a home-cooked, nutritious breakfast prepared by the Chaplain, creating a warm and welcoming environment where meaningful conversations flow naturally. The Chaplain also picks up students from across campus in a Duke van, ensuring that everyone who wants to be part of this spiritual and social community can join. Hosted in the CML office, the Fajr Breakfast Club offers a chance to start the day rooted in faith, friendship, and a sense of belonging.
Objectives:
1. Encourage students to gather for spiritual reflection and prayer.
2. Strengthen community bonds and belonging across campus.

Jumu'ah Prayer Service

When:	Friday, April 09, 2027 05:00 PM to Friday, April 09, 2027 06:00 PM
Where:	McClendon Tower 5th Floor, Durham, NC 27708, United States
RSVP:	https://duke.campusgroups.com/rsvp?id=2281811

The Jumu'ah Prayer Service is a weekly gathering offering Duke students a sacred space to observe Friday prayers in a warm and inclusive environment. Rooted in the Islamic tradition of communal worship, this service provides an opportunity for spiritual reflection, connection, and growth. Open to all, the Jumuah Prayer Service fosters a sense of belonging, strengthens community ties, and bridges faith with academic, intellectual, and personal development. It serves as both a religious observance and a space for meaningful engagement, supporting Muslim students in their spiritual journey while contributing to Duke’s diverse campus life.
Objective:
1. Foster a warm and inclusive environment where students feel safe to practice their faith and grow spiritually.
2. Build and strengthen meaningful connections among campus community members.
3. Advance the broader university goal of bridging knowledge, faith, and values of Muslim students.

Kitab Connect

When:	Tuesday, April 13, 2027 10:00 PM to Tuesday, April 13, 2027 11:30 PM
Where:	Sign in to download the location
RSVP:	https://duke.campusgroups.com/rsvp?id=2281837

Kitab Connect is a weekly Quran study group that meets every Tuesday from 6:00 to 7:30 PM. The first 30 minutes are dedicated to reading the Quran in Arabic, followed by an hour of group discussion inspired by the reading. Participants include students, faculty, staff, alumni, and community members, creating a rich and diverse environment for learning. Open to all regardless of Arabic reading ability, Kitab Connect encourages participants to read, listen, or simply share. The discussions are guided by what participants are moved to explore that evening, making each session unique and engaging. This casual, inclusive gathering intentionally creates a sense of comfort and openness, recognizing that everyone has different experiences with Islam, Muslims, and the Quran.
Objectives:
1. Cultivate a meaningful relationship with the Quran, both individually and as a community.
2. Build an open and inviting environment where questions are encouraged and diverse perspectives are valued.
